

Natsume Opens 2020 Submissions for the Natsume Indie Program

Indie Developers of Seriously Fun Games are Encouraged to Apply!

Burlingame, CA. – April 29, 2020 – Natsume Inc., a worldwide developer and publisher of family-oriented video games, today announced the Natsume Indie Program is accepting submissions for 2020 and beyond. The Natsume Indie Program partners the company with independent developers around the world to introduce creative, innovative games to a wider audience.

The submission form can be found here: https://community.natsume.com/?page_id=72

“Natsume has been developing and publishing family-friendly games for over two decades, and it’s our joy to now partner with aspiring indie developers who are creating the next generation of video games that share our mission to make everyone happy,” said Hiro Maekawa, President & CEO of Natsume. “We are honored to support and partner with developers around the world creating authentic experiences that are Serious Fun for gamers of all ages.”

Natsume’s first partner in the program is Fiery Squirrel, whose title Cosmic Defenders launches on Nintendo Switch in May. Cosmic Defenders is a 2D fast-paced revolving shooter about a group of unconventional heroes using the power of nature to stop chaotic aliens from taking over the universe. Cooperate with other guardians, protect the galaxy from the wicked, and restore peace!
